

CHURCH OF THE
RESURRECTION
ROMAN CATHOLIC

May, 2011

To Whom It May Concern:

Kathleen Horrigan played an integral part in the overall planning and implementation of the design and development of a new worship facility for Church of the Resurrection, New Albany, Ohio. She voluntarily served her parish community for four and a half years as a member of the Planning and Development Team, and a member of the Architect Selection Committee.

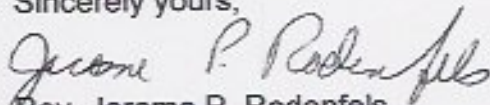

She worked directly with the architects in the selection of finishes, materials, carpeting, wood stain, and overall color scheme which has been accepted and complimented on by other parishioners.

Serving as a Co-Chair of the Parish Art and Environment Committee, Kathleen worked with other volunteer parishioners who comprised the team, to coordinate focus groups in a collaborative effort. The collaboration included the pastor and those parishioners who chose to participate via dialogue, in the construction of our new church. She took into account the wishes and necessities of many, to evoke the feeling of old-world elegance. As a result, she investigated and researched independent artists who have been nationally recognized leaders in their fields, and helped to finalize contracts for commissioned large-scale, one-of-a-kind projects. During installation of each of these projects, she worked with the artists to assist in the on-site management coordination to completion.

We found her to be engaging, creative, diligent and able to listen to our concerns, resolving issues in a timely manner.

I believe Kathleen would be a great person to handle any design or staging projects you may have, guiding you in decisions that will enhance your surroundings as she has done with ours.

Sincerely yours,

Rev. Jerome P. Rodenfels
Pastor
